

WASHINGTON FALLS

VIDEO	AUDIO
OC: Joe Stone Sits in drivers seat of car and looks in the camera on the passenger side.	((OC – Joe Stone)) “It’s a beautiful fall day and there’s plenty of sunshine. Something not easy to come by in the Pacific Northwest. So, with the weather in our favor, today we’re going to go explore a couple of places that are easy to get to and fun to explore. First on the list? Pothole Falls, at Lacamas Lake.”
B-ROLL: Ignition, drive,	((SOT)) Music
B-ROLL: Lacamas and Round lakes, park entrance, parking lot, trails, paths	((VO #1)) POTHOLE FALLS ARE A PART OF THE WASHOUGAL RIVER AND ARE FED BY LACAMAS LAKE AND ROUND LAKE - WHICH IS HELD BACK BY A SMALL DAM. THIS IS A NICE AND EASY -- AND QUICK WALK -- AND DOESN'T REQUIRE A WHOLE LOT OF PREPPING. THE TRAIL BEGINS AT LACAMAS PARK WHICH IS JUST OFF THE MAIN ROAD AND HAS A VERY ACCESSIBLE PARKING LOT. FROM THERE YOU TAKE THE WELL-GROOMED PATHS SOUTH AROUND THE EDGE OF ROUND LAKE, CROSSING OVER ONE BRIDGE AND A DAM. THE STEEL AND CONCRETE STRUCTURE, WITH HAND-OPERATED GATE VALVES, WAS BUILT IN 1938 FOR THE PURPOSE OF FEEDING THE CAMAS PAPERMILL 7000 FEET DOWNSTREAM. AS YOU CONTINUE DOWN THE PATH, IT'S ONLY A FEW MORE MINUTES OF UNDULATING PATHS FLANKED BY TALL EVERGREEN TREES BEFORE YOU REACH THE FALLS.
B-ROLL: Close up of falls, water rushing around rocks,	((NATS)) “Water rushing over rocks”

B-ROLL: Holes in rock formations	((VO #2)) POTHOLE FALLS UNUSUAL NAME CAME FROM EROSION IN THE SANDSTONE CREEKBED THAT HAPPENED OVER THE COURSE OF MILLENIA. THEY ARE SOMETHING QUITE FUN TO SEE UP CLOSE.
B-ROLL: People walking down trails.	((VO#3/OC)) “As easy as this place is to get to, I have only crossed paths with a few individuals that were also here walking the trails. So, it’s nice and mostly quiet, even in the summer. If you have a few minutes and want to make a quick escape to the great outdoors, I highly recommend it. For the more adventurous - well, if you are okay to drive a bit further out, Lucia Falls is another very accessible water feature that won’t disappoint.”
B-ROLL: Holes in rock formations	((VO#4)) IT SITS ON A 24-ACRE PARK ON THE EAST FORK OF THE LEWIS RIVER, ABOUT 40 MINUTES NORTH OF DOWNTOWN VANCOUVER. THERE’S PLENTY OF PARKING AND SOME LIMITED FACILITIES, BUT THE TRAIL SYSTEM IS 2.5 MILES LONG AND CONNECTS TO NEARBY MOULTON FALLS. LUCKY FOR US, LUCIA FALLS IS REALLY CLOSE TO THE PARKING LOT.
B-ROLL: User photos of salmon jumping, stock video,	((VO #5)) IN THE WINTER THE PARK GIVES VIEWERS A FRONT-ROW SEAT TO WATCHING THE STEELHEAD SALMON MAKING THEIR WAY UPRIVER TO SPAWN - - WHICH IS WHY THE WATERWAYS ARE OFF-LIMITS TO RECREATIONAL SWIMMING OR PLAYING IN THE WATER OF ANY KIND AS IT’S A PROTECTED HABITAT FOR THE SALMON.
Close: Standup OC	((VO/OC)) “This area is just absolutely breathtaking... There’s so much to see and experience and we aren’t even that far away from the city. The fresh air, the water churning, the sun. I could seriously just sit out here all day. You know what? I think I might. See you next time.”
